

File a Claim

If you've lost your job in Nebraska, you can File a Claim at the Nebraska Department of Labor website.

Eligibility

You must be unemployed through no fault of your own, as defined by Nebraska law. Here are the three primary ways you may lose your job and how each relates to your Eligibility for benefits:

- Layoffs due to "downsizing" or a reduction-in-force will qualify you for benefits.
- Firing for reasons related to misconduct makes you ineligible for benefits. However, if you're fired simply because you weren't a good fit or lacked the skills to perform the job, you may be able to collect.
- Quitting your job without good cause will make you ineligible for benefits for 13 weeks. If you have good cause and can prove there was a compelling work-related reason that forced you to leave (e.g., sexual harassment, dangerous working conditions, relocation with a military spouse), you will likely receive benefits.

You must have made a certain amount of money before losing your job, which is calculated by your base period. Your base period is the earliest four of the five completed calendar quarters before you filed your benefits claim. For example, if your claim was filed on Oct. 10, 2019, your base period would be the 12-month period beginning July 1, 2018, and ending June 30, 2019. In Nebraska, in order to be eligible, you must meet the following requirements:

- You must have made $4,246.00 during the entire base period.
- You must have earned at least $1,850 in one quarter and at least $800 in another.

You must be able to work, available to work and seeking employment. If you find a suitable position, you must accept it. Suitability varies depending on your skill set, training, salary and more. Over time, if you still haven't found work, you may have to compromise on a job that doesn't quite match what you were doing before.

Duration of Benefits

Nebraska residents can collect unemployment benefits for a maximum of 26 weeks, or until one-third of the base period wages have been received.

Weekly Benefit Rate

You can receive up to $426 per week.
